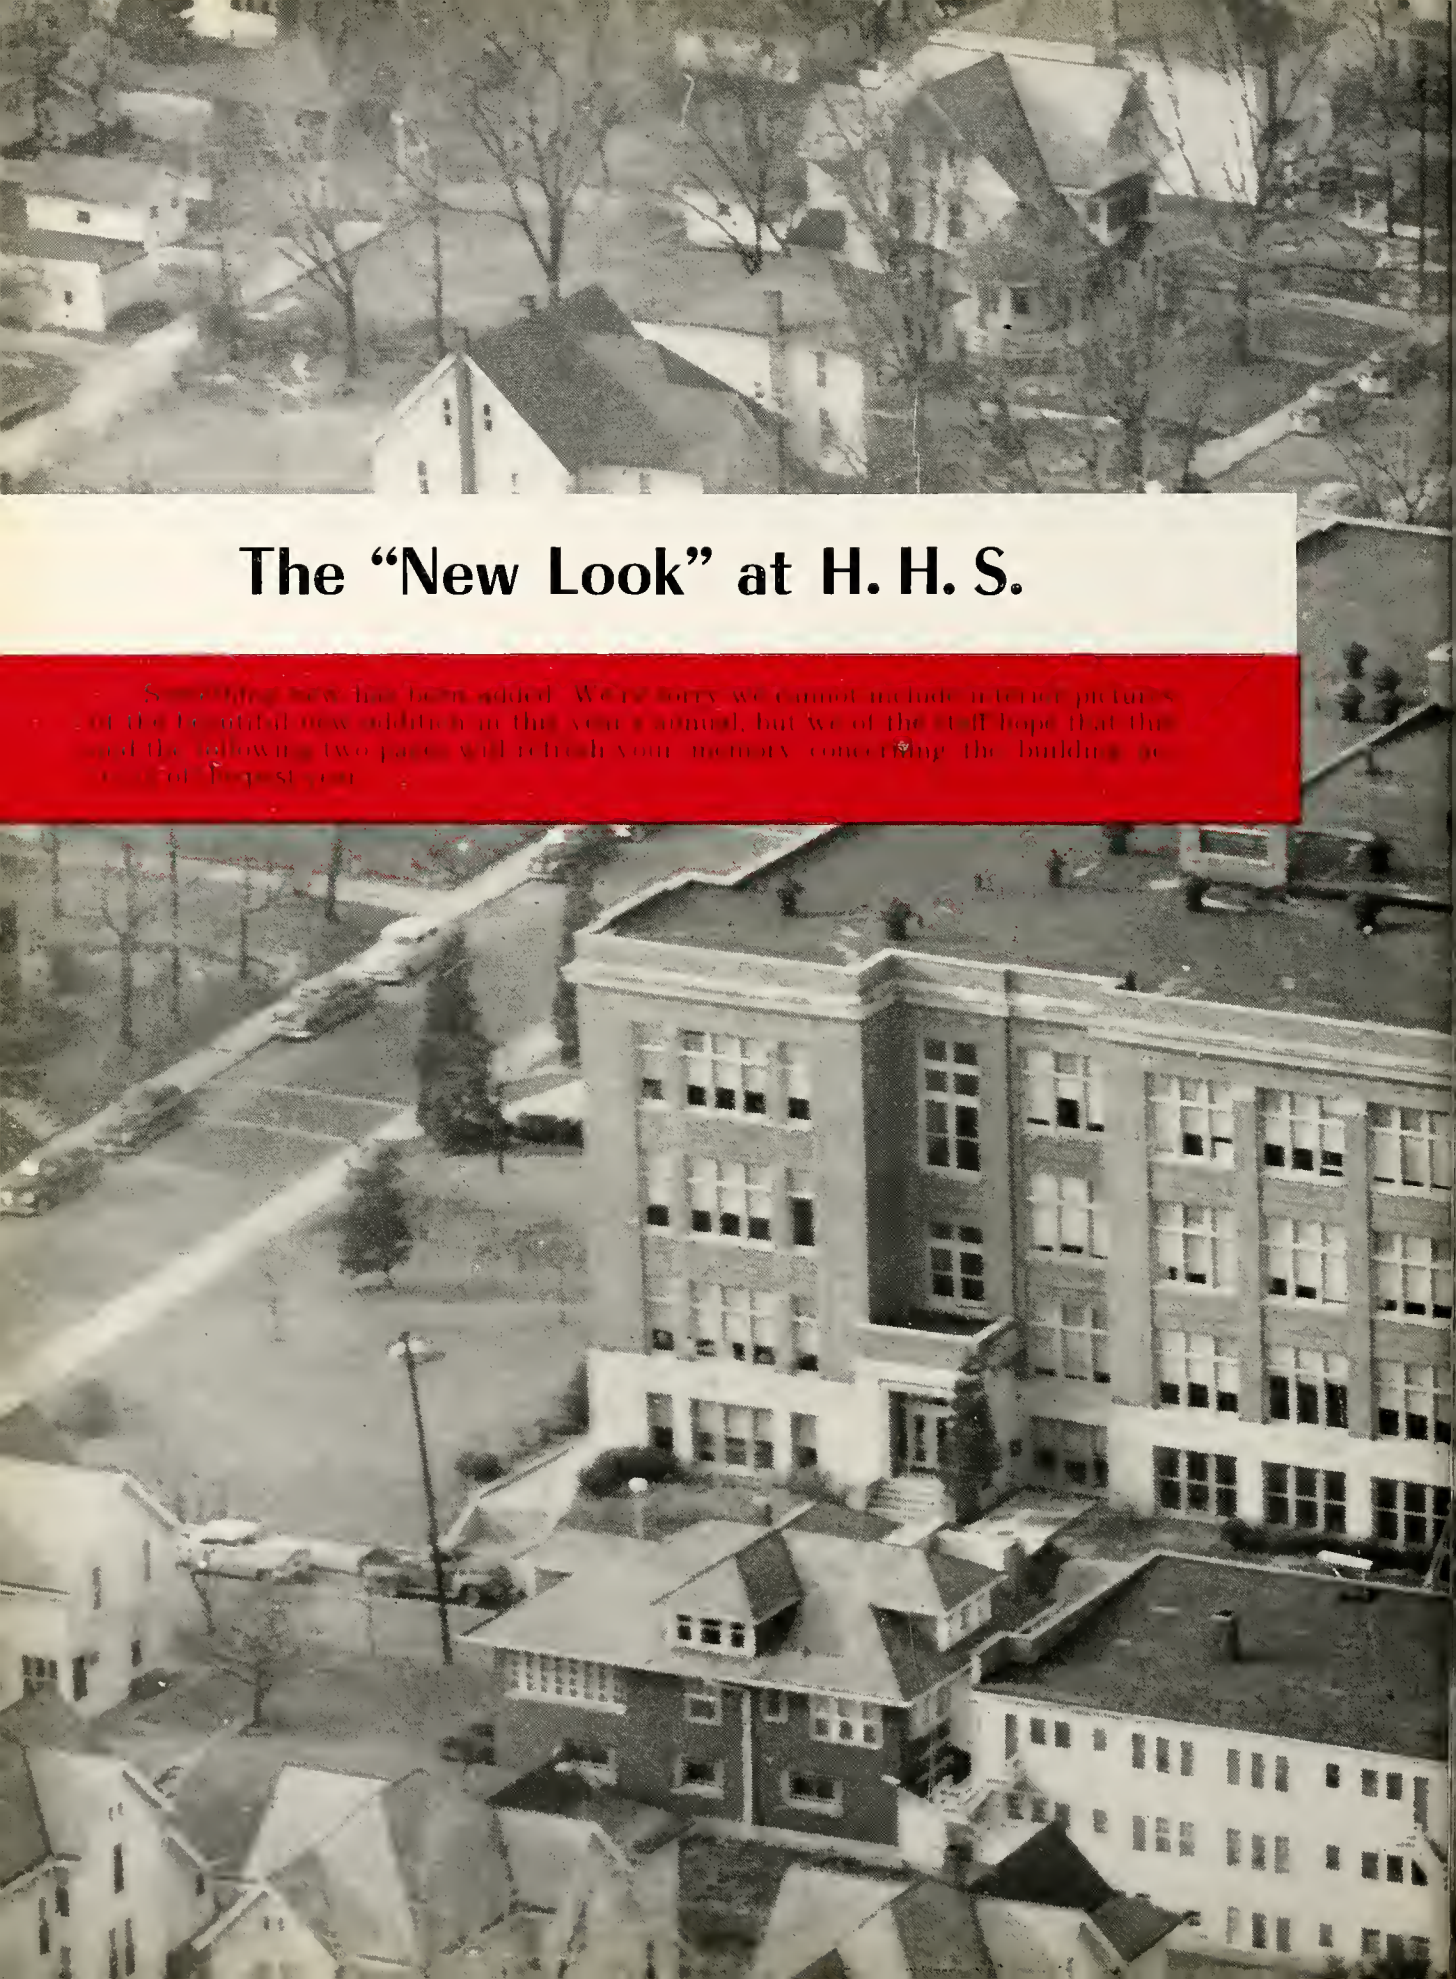
HUNTINGTON HIGH SCHOOL

HUNTINGTON, IND.



The "New Look" at H. H. S.

Something new has been added. We're sorry we cannot include interior pictures of the beautiful new addition in this year's annual, but we of the staff hope that the rest of the following two pages will refresh your memory concerning the building as it was at the close of the past year.

Rear View

Studying to the sound of air hammers and the smell of asphalt was annoying at times. Construction moved slowly at first and the students often wondered if they could ever use the new addition.

The new facilities include a cafeteria which can serve 300 people at a time, larger band and choir rooms, and more classrooms. Radio station WVSH will also be moving into a new home equipped with a new console, a gift of the class of 1954.

Strolling through the halls, seniors will suffer from mixed emotions. There will be the pride of graduating from a school with such fine facilities, and envy because they have not had the privilege of using these newest additions to our school.

In Memoriam

Early Thursday morning, June 18, 1953, L. D. Gordon slept away into eternity at his home on Woodlawn Avenue, Huntington, Indiana.

Mr. Gordon, known to many as "Dad", was well known and loved by thousands of business and professional people and students throughout the state. During his thirty and a half years of service as a teacher in Huntington City Schools, he exercised a great constructive influence upon the youth with whom he made contact.

He began his teaching career at Riley school in January, 1923. In September, 1940, he was advanced to Huntington High School as an English instructor. A few years later he was appointed as director of guidance and dean of boys. He served in that position until his untimely death. He was an active member of the Central Christian Church and was the Demolay "Dad" for the Huntington Chapter since its organization.

We salute the fond memory of another who has passed on to eternal rest.

FACULTY

Superintendent

The quiet man occasionally glimpsed strolling through our halls is our superintendent of schools, Mr. Burton Stephan. Although he is a very busy person, he can always find time to converse with anyone wishing to speak with him. Whether he knows you or not he always greets you with a friendly smile.

MR. BURTON STEPHAN

School Board

Our school board members for the past year have been Mrs. Ruth Dunkin, Mr. Dale Updike, and Mr. Lawrence Leyman. They assist our superintendent, Mr. Stephan, in many school matters, one of the most important being the hiring of our teachers. The city council appoints each of these members for a four year term.

MR. HAROLD JOHNSON

Principal

Mr. Johnson has many duties as principal of our school. Besides these duties he also teaches a class in social studies. Although he has a very busy schedule, Mr. Johnson always has time to talk over problems with students and teachers.

Secretaries

The three ladies who take over most of the paper work of our Superintendent and Principal are Miss Fredith Langley, Miss Betty Grossman, and Miss LouAnn Parker. They handle all financial records, scholastic records, correspondence, and school book rentals. They often are quite helpful in solving a multitude of problems of the students who seek advice daily from the office.

One of the busiest groups in our high school is the custodians. This year we have only one member of last year's maintenance staff remaining, Mr. Fred Cussen. The three newcomers are Bill Maxton, Charles Thompson, and Charles Alexander. These men have great patience as they go about their daily work and meet the emergencies that arise each day. As a result of their efforts, our building has the reputation of being one of the most attractive and best maintained buildings in the state.

ACTIVITIES

Miss Modulus

We are proud to present Miss Janet Hoover, queen of the 1954 Modulus Revue.

The Modulus Revue

The premiere performance of the Modulus Revue always results in the counting of tickets sold by the persistent efforts of the nominees. This year the contenders for the title were JoAnn Shull, Margaret Pohler, Sally Weyler, Charlotte Briggs, Janet Hoover and Lorraine Cheesman. Mr. Day, the 1954 ticket manager, reported an all time sale record with 4125 tickets sold. This prodigious sale made it necessary to present the revue a fourth night. Hats off to you, nominees!

On opening night, Miss Janet Hoover, escorted by Stephen Moon, was proclaimed the 1954 Miss Modulus. Miss Hoover earned the title by efficient planning and untiring effort. She holds the record of selling more tickets than any other previous nominee. Janet is very happy to be the winner, but she is happier to know that she contributed so much to the success of the revue.

MODULI AVE.

The lights dimmed, the velvet curtain parted, and the Modulus Revue of 1954 was born. Troubles multiplied as February 16, 17, and 18 drew near. "Practice" became the watchword and "Just go through it once more" the standard bearer.

The dance choruses drilled constantly until they mastered their routines. The 13 members of the orchestra, led by the baton of Mr. Wilbern, labored to devise the necessary effect for several types of musical presentations.

While the acts were being prepared, Mr. Diffenbaugh's army of painters, carpenters, artists, and electrical technicians transformed the stage from its natural state into a beautiful sparkling draped creation with a revolving yearbook surmounting a marble pillar.

Unusual and entertaining specialties featuring several skits, a monologue and personality interpretation helped comprise the program. Mrs. Patterson's watchful supervision was responsible for the almost professional caliber of their performances.

Three girls worked hard to execute a solo tap dance and piano duet. Versatile vocalizing by soloists, a duet, quartet, sextet and choir fulfilled capably that part of the Revue program. Our choir proved its adaptability when it accompanied an operatic number and an artistic ballet. This end was achieved only after several months of reading, interpreting, practicing and memorizing the music under Mr. Slater's able direction.

With the first round of applause, we all heaved a sigh of relief, for we knew that the show, representing a portion of talent and ability present in the halls of our school, was wholeheartedly accepted. The bigger and better than ever Modulus Revue of 1954 had attained the pinnacle of success.

Mr. Wilbern

Directing the orchestra was only one of Mr. Leslie Wilbern's tasks as co-ordinator of the Revue. He also arranged for attractive backdrops, provided suitable props, selected audience appealing acts, encouraged dancers and heeded anxious actors. He assumed the major responsibilities of the overall success of this annual show. We all express our appreciation to Mr. Wilbern for helping to make this year's Modulus Revue one of the finest in the history of our school.

Our very efficient editor this year was Georgianna Parmerlee who, assisted by her staff, produced this yearbook. She edited everything that went into the book besides assuming the many responsibilities that only previous editors could fully appreciate.

The versatile man, who proved that he could excel in anything that is required of a sponsor, was our "slave driver" Mr. Diffenbaugh. His long hours of work are well represented between these covers.

Barbara Petrucelle served as associate editor preparing for her position next year.

The man we trusted with our "lucre" was business manager, Dick Butt. He readily took charge of all money received by the advertising and circulation departments.

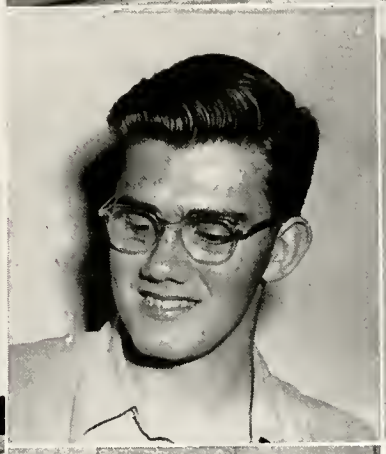
Modulus

Seeing someone running around with a camera calling you to have your picture taken or perhaps hearing someone ask about an organization, its officers, members, and purpose was not unusual. What was this for? It's all part of the hard work, patience, and determination exercised by the staff of our yearbook, the Modulus, while they are carrying on the tradition of publishing a yearbook. Of course we are all glad to get our Modulus in the spring but then we pass it off lightly as just another souvenier of our high school days without ever realizing what was needed to make it possible or to thank those of the staff who unselfishly gave of their time and efforts to bring about its success.

Other members of the staff besides those mentioned above were Tom Glenn, the sports editor, whose dependability made him outstanding in recording the smallest detail of every play and Eleanor Carlson, the photography editor, who kept our photographers, Phil McMahan and Tom Lancaster, busy taking, developing, and printing the pictures which you see in this book. Wondering what happened each day were Jerry Ball and Susanne Schilling who wrote the diary. Jerry was also the art editor while Susanne helped write copy. Jo Ellen Gerdes was the copy editor. Her helpers were Steve Moon, Barbara Knoll, and Joan Fontaine. Nedra Byrd was responsible for all typed material sent to the printer. Janice Bellam, assisted by Joyce Fowerbaugh, sold the finished product.

George Juergens was advertising manager. His assistants were Larry Brooks, Bill Kieth, Shirley Souders, Sue Akers, Janice Watrous, and Janet Miller. If you were wondering who kept track of everyones picture on each page and their names it was Bud Stringfellow, our file clerk, who also tried endlessly to keep the files in order.

The 1954 Modulus staff hopes you are just as proud of the Modulus this year as they are. We feel the end was worth the means. We worked, we learned, and we will always remember "our book."



Sahata

The high school paper, THE SAHATA, started its fifth year with a staff of six members, Kay Farrar, Shirley Gressley, Sally Hosler, Norma Lockhart, Mike Arlington, and Huston Smith.

Kay Farrar, Sally Hosler, and Huston Smith, seniors, completed three years of work with the staff. Norma Lockhart, a sophomore, completed her second year, and Shirley Gressley, a senior, and Mike Arlington, junior, came to us as new material but each did his work as a veteran. All members volunteered time for the paper without credit.

The unique feature of our paper is that all students and faculty members receive the paper every two weeks free of charge. The production side of the paper included reporting, setting up, proof-reading, and circulating. Special editions marked the various holidays and seasons of the year.

All staff members qualified themselves for all lines of duty. In addition to regular duties, Kay Farrar and Shirley Gressley handled the calendar of clubs and social events; Sally Hosler was circulation manager; Huston Smith handled all sports communications with other schools; and Norma Lockhart was filing clerk. Much credit is due Mike Arlington for the original art work and special holiday designing he did. The group worked under the leadership of Miss Geraldine Zahn, staff advisor.

The typing staff represented advanced students chosen to work exclusively on the paper. Members included Ruth Burman, Sandra Day, Phyllis Nie, Mary Ann Sands, and Pat Stell. David Repp, a junior, was in charge of duplication. All typists worked under the supervision of Mr. Leslie Wilbern, production advisor.

The capable advisor of the Sahata is Miss Zahn. Mr. Wilbern supervised the typing and cutting of stencils. It is only through their hard work and patience that this production was possible.

Many hours of work have been spent this year to give the high school students the top school news. Circulation interest grew to include other high schools and colleges for the first time. All in all the paper lived up to its meaning, "Sees all; Hears all; and Tells all."

How many more copies do we need?

But, I'll never get done!

This gossip column gets more interesting each week. Aren't people funny?

What's on the calendar for today? Nothing, Oh Boy! !

Now you birds can have only two mistakes to the line. Don't forget!

International Students

The American Field Service is a non-profit organization whose international scholarships have, since 1947, brought 1,133 teenagers from 28 different countries of the world to the United States to study in our high schools for a year. The students live with average American families and fit into the home and community life.

The returnees who had lived in this country for a year wished to do something in return, so they made available the summer scholarships for American teenagers. Anne Weesner and Jerry Ball were awarded the scholarships for the summer of 1953. Anne stayed with a family in Kiel, Germany, the home town of Joe von Roemer, who was a former exchange student here, and Jerry lived in Stuttgart, a city in beautiful Southern Germany. The entire program succeeds, we believe, in its purpose of promoting understanding between the peoples of the world.

Miss Ruth Luther, committee chairman, was instrumental in affiliating Huntington with the program three years ago. The other members of the committee are Mrs. Lester Rouch, president of P.T.A.; Mrs. Marie Porter, dean of girls; Mrs. Wilbur Biggard; Mrs. Frank Spotts; Mrs. Wilbur Lockhart; Mr. Harold Johnson, principal; Rev. Wayne Paulen, civic representative; Anne Weesner, secretary; Jerry Ball; Bud Stringfellow, president of Senior class; treasurer, Mike Arlington, president of Junior class; Gene Carroll, Bob Paulen, Carol Abbott, Diane Guest, officers of the Student Council; and Carolyn Kimmel, Roger Handwork, Max Fordyce, Jodine Williams, student council representatives.

The major work of the American Field Service Committee in Huntington has been the raising of $650 for an exchange student next year. The committee also arranges for homes for the exchange students and handles the applications of our students for the summer scholarships.

The Girls Athletic Association was very aptly led this past year by Marlene Gearhart, who acted as president after Carol Kennedy moved; Shirley Gressley, Secretary and Susanne Schilling, Treasurer. The sponsor was the girls' athletic director, Miss Ruth Luther.

The biggest event of the G. A. A. year was the annual banquet, March 26. "Dutch" Struck, the athletic director at Hanover College, was the main speaker.

A picnic, to gain the interest of new members, and the co-recreational volleyball tournament were two events sponsored by the G. A. A. Clotheslines, greeting cards, nuts and Viking sweat shirts were sold by the G. A. A. as fund raising activities. Together with the home rooms, G. A. A. also sponsored a skating party to raise money for the International Student Exchange Fund.

Quiet! We'll be on the air in a minute.

Now Ramey, I don't believe a word you say.

All little children like parties.

Our plans for this week are:

W. V. S. H.

"Pop, something's wrong with the left turntable and we go on the air in five minutes," comes ringing over the intercom in room 103. Instantly Mr. McCabe "Pop" Day is bounding up the 28 stairs and down one corridor to the studios of station W.V.S.H., the Voice of the Schools of Huntington. This year W.V.-S.H. broadcasted 5 hours every school day, aired all ball games, and carried many public service programs such as "7:00 till $1000" and a disc jockey program on Saturday morning. Assisting Mr. Day is Mrs. Wallace Patterson who teaches two classes in Radio Workshop and supervises the script writing and announcers. Roger Rickert served as chief engineer and Tom Glenn acted as head announcer and sports director.

With the addition of the $2,000 console, a gift of the Class of '54, and with the new quarters in the recently completed annex to our school, the station has taken on a very pleasing "new look."

Audio - Visual

This department, directed by Mr. "Pop" Day, was happy to move into their new quarters in the addition where they will be able to work more effectively.

Our period supervisors—one senior, three juniors and two sophomores—did a wonderful job of bringing the films to us with the help of twelve other boys.

"Classroom projection" was added this past year. This means there is now a separate unit on each floor.

We should be very appreciative of the service that these eighteen boys render to us. Through these films that they show, we gain a lot of extra knowledge.

Members of the organization wait for a few minutes after the meeting for their photograph. The group usually congregates before meetings at the John Street steps under the street light where they have informal discussions about "this and that."

Masque and Gavel

"Speech for use" is the motto and primary purpose of Masque and Gavel. Lending their efforts for planning and carrying out the year's activities were: Eleanor Carlson, President; Jerry Ball, Vice President; Georgianna Parmerlee, Secretary; and Mrs. Wallace Patterson, our most helpful sponsor. Meeting on the first and third Mondays of each month, the club enjoyed programs put on by fellow members. These programs consisted of original skits, debates, speeches, and lest we forget, "late speeches." This organization is also responsible for the religious programs held twice a month. Chairmen for these programs were Carole Steele and Bonnie Spotts. Special committees read the announcements over the sound system each morning. The club also participates in two WOWO Junior Town Meetings each year. The town meeting speakers this year were Sally Weyler, Kent Owen, John Drew, and Eleanor Carlson. Each year many members take part in short plays, skits, readings, and declamations for sororities and churches in Huntington. Highlighting these events this year was the program for Huntington's observance of the World Day of Prayer.

Actuariae

When the students of Huntington High enter the library, they are neither bewildered nor confused because they receive expert assistance in locating suitable material to meet their specific problems. Yes, those efficient girls who help everyone in the library are Actuariae members. The 1953-54 officers were President, Carolyn Kimmel; Vice President, Janis Lehman and Secretary-Treasurer, Janet Mygrant. The club is sponsored by Miss Carolyn Reynolds.

The purpose of Actuariae is to make the library a useful servant to all students. The club organizes student library assistants who make the library attractive throughout the year.

The social activities this year included a Christmas Party complete with a decorated tree in the library and the May Tea honoring the mothers of the members.

Biology Club

The Biology Club is for interested students who can maintain a B average in this area. All of the members under the presidency of Jim Carlson, had a very eventful year. Assisting the president were Dick Fredericks, Vice President; Phyllis Van Dine, Secretary; and Phil McMahan, Treasurer. Mr. Hummer and Mr. Ware are the sponsors of these very energetic Homo Sapiens.

Included in this year's activities were interesting speakers who elaborated on subjects related to biology, several films pertaining to wildlife, and last, the annual Biology trip which was thoroughly educational for all who attended.

Twelve new members subjected themselves to a severe but fun-provoking initiation. The purpose of the Biology Club is to advance the knowledge about biology for interested students.

Below: Wonder if they know what they're in for, being teachers?

F. N. A.

Future Nurses of America is an organization for girls who are interested in the nursing profession. They discuss their common problems and make tentative plans for their careers.

The F. N. A. elected the following officers for the 1953-54 term: President, Anne Earhart; Vice President, Sally Hosler; Secretary, Pamela Weber; and Treasurer, Julie Norfleet. Mrs. Elizabeth Sayle contributed her time to sponsor the organization.

The members of this group learned practical first aid. They heard several registered nurses from different hospitals and viewed films concerning nursing.

F. T. A.

Although they did not organize until the second semester, the members of Future Teachers of America did their best to make up for lost time. Under the direction of their sponsors, Miss Neal and Mr. Weesner, they held meetings every month. The purpose of this club is to help those students who think they might like to become teachers to learn more about teaching and the training a teacher must have. The members either held discussions on various teaching methods and the qualifications of a good teacher or listened to speakers. These speakers helped to give the students an insight into the teaching profession.

Mr. Moreland and his officers sit serenely by while the Booster Club initiation goes on next door.

Booster Club

Boosting school athletic morale was accomplished by this club under the supervision of Mr. G. W. Moreland. The very able president, Gene Carroll; along with Don Hum, vice president; and Gene Kaufman, secretary-treasurer, assumed the worries for the club.

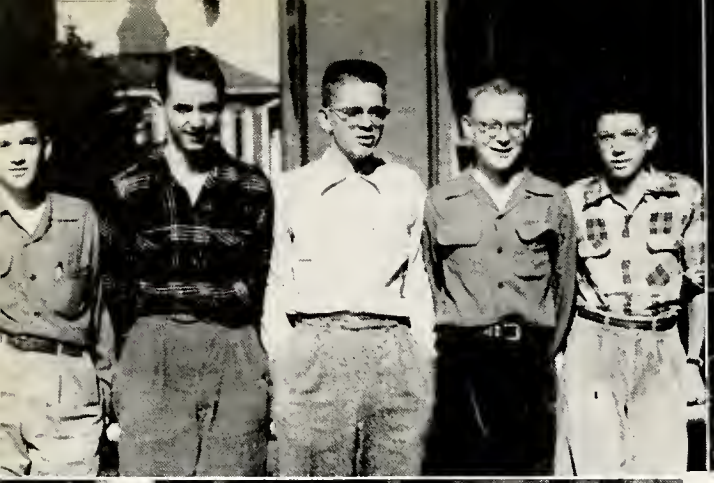
After a hilarious initiation, the Booster Club resigned themselves to the business of boosting the school spirit in a big way. They sold advertising for the football and basketball games and sponsored buses to out of town games. The group was responsible for organizing pep sessions and enthusiastically helped to support the sports program of Huntington High.

Student Council

In order that the student body may have a voice in school problems and activities, two representatives are chosen from each home room to form a student council.

The 1954 officers were: Gene Carroll, President; Bob Paulen, Vice President; Carol Abbott, Secretary; and Diane Guest, Treasurer.

Under the guidance of Mr. Johnson this group helps to govern the school in a democratic manner. Raising money to bring a foreign student here and conducting a clothing drive for Korean children were two of their projects this year.



Hi-Y and Tri-Y

Developing Christian character and serving the community is the purpose of Senior Hi-Y. In addition to several projects the club held a hayride, a banquet for their parents, and a dance. They also attended a hockey game with the Jr. Hi-Y.

The sixth annual Anniversary Dance and the Father-Daughter Banquet were held through the combined efforts of the Tri-Hi-Y clubs. Mrs. Edward Sunley was advisor to all four clubs.

Valuable panel discussions were held and several projects executed by these girls.

The county farm patients were treated to candy by this group who also held a Splash and Slumber Party and a Record Be Bop.

Attendance and Guidance

Mr. Gerdes assumed the position of dean of boys at the beginning of the school year after the position was vacated by the death of Mr. Gordon. As head of the guidance department he also was responsible for the testing program and other related matters. Mrs. Porter served as dean of girls. If you were out of school for any reason they were probably the first people whom you saw upon returning. Their primary objective was to see that we made the most of our opportunities as high school students.

Jo Ellen Carroll, Janice Bellam, Ruth Fahrnow, Shirley Gressley, and Eleanor Carlson helped the counselors during the two semesters of the 1953-54 school year. The girls run errands, keep records, and do miscellaneous secretarial duties. Acting as a counseling assistant provides ½ credit in business practice. Not only is experience acquired, but they receive valuable training in dealing with personalities and people.

Lorraine Cheeseman, Audrey Biggard, Joy Zinsmeister, Phil McMahan, Richard Brandt, and Ted Voght are those students who helped in the attendance offices for the year of 1953-54. Collecting, filing, and distributing attendance slips, they assisted in every capacity possible. Experience in office work is just one of the advantages gained by this job. They could usually be spotted, hard at work, during first and fourth periods.

Each class of students at Huntington High School is given an advisor who helps them solve the more difficult problems that arise. Freshman and some seniors were counseled by Mr. Burke. Sophomores see Miss Kline. Juniors were under the supervision of Mr. Gerdes for the greater part of the year. Mr. Diffenbaugh replaced Mr. Gerdes in this position during the second semester. Most of the seniors were aided by Mrs. Hillegas who, along with Mr. Burke, also served as senior class sponsors this year.

Counselors help incoming freshmen become adjusted to high school life and help plan their four years work. Upper classmen too need help in choosing a career or making plans for college.

Honor Society

The Senior Honor Society represents the upper 15% of the senior class as based on scholastic standing and student and teacher vote. The members this year are: Steve Moon, Eleanor Carlson, Anne Weesner, Jo Ellen Gerdes, Tom Lancaster, Max Fordyce, Jerry Ball, George Riseborough, Blaine Robrock, Joan Fountain, Roger Handwork, Joe Zimmerlee, Lowell Swaidner, Richard Ferguson, Kay Farrar, Jo Ellen Carroll, Sharon Dinius, Nedra Byrd, Carolyn Lesh, and Marilyn Miller. Each year these students, along with the Junior members, are guests of the Huntington Rotary Club at one of their May dinners.

The Junior Honor Society represents the upper 5% of the junior class as based on scholastic standing and student and teacher vote. These students are guests of the senior members at the annual breakfast held in their honor at the close of the school year. Members this year were Jim Carlson, Bob Paulen, Bernadine Burkholder, Judy Shutt, Bonnie Spotts, and Steve Smith.

Valedictorian

Stephen Moon, our valedictorian for 1954, has won acclaim in more ways than the one in scholarship. He has been very active in the drum section of the band and as a member of the revue orchestra for four years. He was class president for two years, had a leading part in the senior play, and was a Junior Rotarian.

Salutatorian

The Salutatorian for the 1954 class, Max Fordyce, served as a very valuable assistant in the athletic department for four years. He served as student manager for both basketmall and football. Max also had a part in the senior play and was active in many clubs in Huntington High.

K. B. F.

Kiwanis Builds Forever, consists of the upper 5% of the senior class. This is determined fully by scholarship. The Kiwanis Club also has these students as guest of honor at one of their May dinners. The primary purpose of the award is to encourage and promote outstanding scholarship among all the students. It is a goal which everyone should try to attain.

Junior Rotary

Each school month Mr. Watson, on behalf of the Huntington Rotary Club, chooses a senior boy to be Junior Rotarian. These boys are chosen on their character, citizenship, and personality. Those chosen this year were as follows: October, Max Fordyce; November, Bud Stringfellow; December, Tom Lancaster; January, Jerry Ball; February, Tom Glenn, March, Steve Moon; April, George Riseborough; May, Ronald Frybarger.

Foremen

Just as a foreman of a factory sees that work is properly being done so the school's Woodshop Foremen keep things running smoothly and efficiently down in the basement woodshop. Mr. Burke appoints a new woodshop foreman each month. This year's foremen were Dick Butt, Dave Winkelman, Neil Derr, Max Fordyce, Terry Delagrange, Meredith Brown, and Jim Yahne. They help Mr. Burke by overseeing classes, caring for tools and machines, replenishing supplies, and doing other things which need to be done.

These boys gain their position by having a B average in woodwork. Only junior and senior boys with previous experience as assistant foreman are eligible. The many articles which we see displayed in the halls every spring are due in part to the efforts of these boys. Once each month the boys in turn were guests of the Huntington Foremen's Club as foreman of the month.

Sunshine Society

The Sunshine Society was guided for the year of 1953-54 by the following officers—President: Anne Weesner; Vice President: Bernadine Burkholder; Treasurer: JoEllen Gerdes; Corresponding Secretary: Susanne Schilling; and Recording Secretary Phyllis VanDine. It was under the able supervision of Miss Alice Kline.

This organization is composed of the girls of H. H. S., and is based on the idea of self-sacrifice, and friendliness to all other girls in the school. The motto "Others" and the creed: "With love in my heart, forgetting self, and with charity for all I will make the object of my life helpfulness and kindness to others. I shall try to fit myself to give intelligent service in making my community a safer and more beautiful place in which to live. Thus will my own life become rich and complete." Every girl in H.H.S. is proud of the fact that she is a member of this organization. The society is divided into various groups, so that more work can be accomplished and each girl can have an active part. These groups each have an adult advisor, a student leader, and various committees composed of the members.

M. M. S., The Money Making Society, is headed by Anne Earhart with Mr. Lowell Buzzard providing the adult supervision. M. M. S. is limited to seniors and juniors only. It is responsible for the traditional school sponsored dances, such as the Sweetheart Dance and the Halloween Dance.

Gales, the group under the supervision of Miss Alice Kline, sponsors the Senior Breakfast, read to sick children, sells the ever popular Easter eggs, and holds an annual banquet for its members.

Susanne Schilling is the student in charge of Big and Little Sisters, and she is ably assisted by the untiring help of Miss Alice Kline. They try to help the incoming freshmen feel at home and learn their way around as painlessly as possible.

In true accordance with the Sunshine Society, is the S.S.S., or the Social Service Sunbeams. Under the guidance of Miss Emma Kline and with the aid of Georgianna Parmerlee, they take trips to the county farm and cheer up shut-ins and elderly people.

The Mary White Guild, named after the daughter of William Allen White, is in charge of Holy Week services and makes cheerful flower baskets for Easter and May Day. This organization is under the direction of Mrs. Marie Porter.

The active work of these groups is seen in everyday activities. The decorative May baskets brighten up the rooms, anticipation of the various dances is seen in the excited atmosphere of the halls, and the obvious embarrassment of the Freshmen on the traditional Green Day, is always a source of amusement for the upper-classmen. The Sunshine Society sells candy and special Sunshine jewelry in order to meet expenses. Huntington High has true reason to be proud of its Sunshine group, as it does spread a little ray of sunshine into the lives of everyone connected with it.

Band

The Band is composed of 45 members ranging in age from 12 to 18 years. Under the direction of Mr. Delmar Weesner the band has long been a part of our curriculum. The main aim of the Band is to further the study of worthwhile music. The group studies all types of music from swing to classical.

The Band opened its season by playing Dragnet at our opening football game. Resplendent in their red and grey uniforms, the troupe marched tirelessly all through the football season backing the Vikes all the way even following them to the Plymouth game and bringing home a victory.

Basketball season also called on the abilities of the Band. The organization was always present and making themselves heard over the noise of the crowd. Timely numbers and popular songs sung by various soloists added to the programs. In the spring, the Band presents its annual Concert. This year one was held during April and one in May.

April the 10th was the date of the State Band Concert held at LaPorte, Indiana. Last year our Band received a first in the contest, and went on to take another first prize in the Sight Reading Contest.

With their moving into new quarters, we are anticipating bigger and better things from our Band. Aways being prepared and turning out music of an unusually high caliber seem to be the standards of our Huntington High School Band.

Leading our band for 1953-54 was Mr. Delmar Weesner. His able direction made possible the precision and exceptional musical effect achieved by the band. Mr. Weesner also directs the city grade school bands. He was also in charge of the marching band that served during the football season.

Third row: Doug Chenoweth, Larry Tribolet, Larry Gilmer, George Riseborough, Larry Reeves, Norma Geist.
Standing: Richard Ferguson, Jerrin Juillerat, Susan Hudson.

Brooks Heck, drum major, led the Huntington High School marching band, assisted by Carol Schnitz, Mary Pohler, and Judy Jones. They preceded the band in its elaborate marching routines at the football games. High-stepping Brooks and his short-skirted girls made baton manipulation look easy. Among the various formations and patterns that were achieved was a well remembered rendition of the "Bunny Hop." We credit these strutting twirlers for their good school spirit and for providing color and enthusiasm to our football games.

Choir

The director of the Huntington High School Choir for the past seven years has been Mr. Cloyde Slater. Along with his work with the choir, Mr. Slater teaches classes in music appreciation and harmony. The outstanding success of the choir is accredited to his interest and unusual musical ability.

The Huntington High School Choir is composed of 53 members and is under the direction of Mr. Cloyd Slater. The requirements for entrance into this co-educational group are quite reasonable. Logically one must be able to read music fairly well. A year of chorus under most circumstances, must precede ones advancement into the organization. Therefore, it is composed mainly of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors.

The choir has smaller divisions within the whole. The girl's sextette is composed of Julie Norfleet, Carolyn Collins, Bernadine Burkholder, Carol Schnitz, Carol Steele and Loretta Hubley. The Barbershop quartette is made up of Phil McMahan, Bob Eagleson, Dick Lee and John Drew.

Soloists are chosen on the basis of voice quality and the type of projection necessary. During the annual Christmas program John Smith, John Drew, Julie Norfleet, Loretta Hubley and Don Meyers served in that capacity. Mara Jane Carter served as accompanist.

Huntington has always had the reputation of turning out a superior choir. In the 1954 Contest held at Fort Wayne, many of the ensembles and soloists received seconds while the girls sextette took a first.

The Huntington High School Choir serves not only the school, but the city and other schools as well. During Christmas they sing at the grade schools throughout the city. They give holiday concerts for women's clubs, the Rotary, and several churches. Prior to Easter the choir provides the music for the Good Friday Services. During the Modulus Revue they sang several selections in one of which they provided music for a ballet number.

Gowned in crimson robes, ornamented with black, the choir always presents a striking picture. Acting as good-will ambassadors they tour schools of surrounding towns. It is customary for Huntington to play host to neighboring musical groups as well as to provide traveling entertainment. Many of our spring auditorium programs are accounted for in this manner.

New facilities for the choir have been provided in our new addition. not only a large rehearsal room but an office for Mr. Slater as well.

We at Huntington High School are truly proud of our choir and have good reason to be. They have certainly upheld our tradition of always producing the best.

Sweetheart Dance

A theme of old-fashioned living and the dreamy music of Jimmy Stier's Orchestra carried the couples through a pleasant evening at the Masonic temple on February 13, 1954. On the walls were illustrations of some old songs that have held up through the "jazz age."

Anne Earhart served as general chairman of the dance with Lowell Buzzard and Alice Kline as faculty advisers.

Halloween Dance

Walking into the Masonic Temple, couples were met by black witches, cats, and skeletons on the walls, streamers of corn tops wound around the four floor posts, and a dead tree, placed behind the orchestra.

This was the annual Halloween Dance sponsored by M. M. S. of the Sunshine Society. Anne Earhart was the general chairman of the dance. She worked with Lowell Buzzard and Alice Kline.

This year something new was added—the "Pumpkin Dance." The boys and girls danced with the person whose name appeared on the "pumpkin" they drew as they went in the door. Bob Sander's Orchestra and his soloists did a very fine job in providing us with the music.

Junior-Senior Reception

"An evening in the orient" was the theme for the 1953 Junior-Senior Reception. In carrying out this theme, the juniors used Japanese scenes entirely and lighted the Masonic Temple with Japanese lanterns. A miniature ricksha formed a centerpiece for each table.

Upon entering the banquet hall, the boys received large colorful Oriental hats and the girls received beautiful fans. The dinner music was presented by Brooks Heck at the piano. The high school girl's trio composed of Carol Steele, Shirley Souders, and Carolyn Collins gave the invocation. After the meal Jane Bell and Jack Snover read the class will, and Nancy Repp and Jerry Ball gave the prophecy. Next on the program was a treat that everyone always enjoys. Al Stewart presented a group of Purdue Glee Club members who presented a varied musical program.

After the tables had been cleared away, Ed Yates' orchestra furnished good dance music for the final big social event of the 1952-53 school year, the prom. This was truly a beautiful event with all of the beautiful dresses and attractive couples. It will remain in the minds of all who attended for many years.

Football

This year's team compiled the best record percentage-wise in Bill Williams' 13 years at Huntington High School. It must be said about the 1953-54 edition of the Huntington Vikings that they weren't the best team in the conference or in the history of the school, but they did make one of the really fine showings of any Viking team. The games were unusually exciting and were played in a sportsman-like manner by our team in exceptionally good football weather before large crowds to compose a chapter of H. H. S. football history that will not soon be forgotten. Tom Lancaster and Bud Stringfellow were elected honorary co-captains by their fellow players because of the leadership qualities they displayed throughout the season.

Coaches

Managers

Managers for the season were Max Fordyce, Joe Zimmerlee, Richard Ferguson and Carlson Becker. Fordyce and Zimmerlee both received senior jackets for completing four years service as managers.

How does Stringfellow get in so many pictures?

Blaine Robrock—after playing at end position for the Norsemen for a couple of years, ably made the switch to tackle.

Left:

Bottom:

Neil Derr—did a mighty fine job at guard position on the side of the line and got his second major letter.

Pete Sowerwine — finished three years of varsity competition battling the opposition as left tackle.

Dave Winkelman—was first in line to take over at end when the need arose and played offense as well as defense.

Right:

Gene Carroll — helped make the difference in many a game with excellent kicking ability along with wise field generalship at quarterback. His play brought him state honorable mention.

Don Hum—after laying out last season due to a lung ailment, once again found himself very much at home in football. He did well enough to rate state honorable mention.

Bottom:

Dale Haney—decided to use his weight to better advantage by giving up student managing, and turning to the football wars where he saw some action at tackle.

John Beal — successfully completed his career on the Vikings at left half and tied for the scoring leadership with Stringfellow and Lind, a junior.

Freshman Football

The Huntington B team compiled a record of three wins and two losses while the freshman team, with one of the biggest perspective turnouts in years, won 5, lost 2 and tied 1 under the helping hand and the booming voice of Bob Baker. A Frosh-Soph combination played and split even in two games making an overall total for the reserve teams as follows: won 9, lost 5, and tied 1. Future football prospects are very good as the boys on these teams will be the ones who will be making the headlines via radio and newspaper in the years to come. Underclassmen who received major letters are: Mike Arlington, Ray Hemphill, Gene Hensel, John Lind, Bob Paulen, Earl Landrum, Kenneth Weinley, Jim Carlson, and Dick Frederick.

The genial gentleman who served as freshman coach for the season was Bob Baker. Student managers, who are pictured at the right are: Scott Hosler, Bill Coates, and Bob Lahr.

COLUMBIA CITY EAGLES GET THEIR WINGS SHEARED IN OPENER by the Vikings 14 to 6. Huntington drew first blood in the opening quarter with Gene Kauffman carrying the ball into the end zone. Not until the final period did the Vikings go ahead when John Beal set up the touchdown on a 40-yard run and later went over for the score. Gene Carroll then kicked his second point after touchdown. . . . MARION GIANTS CUT DOWN TO SIZE by the Vikes, 13—6, but not without their putting on the pressure, though. Huntington got off to a early lead when Gene Carroll passed to John Lind, who scored unmolested. The Vikings' other score came on a beautifully executed play that sent Beal 50 yards through the middle of the line. . . . WABASH APACHES TAKE VIKES' SCALPS, only by a hair, though, 21 to 20. Huntington went into a short-lived lead when Stringfellow unleashed an 18-yard pass to Rog Handwork in the end zone on the first play from scrimmage. Beal climaxed a 71-yard drive in the second quarter, scoring from 5 yards out. The Norsemen scored midway in the last quarter with Carroll taking the ball himself for an 8-yard touchdown run. Gene never got a chance to kick the all-important extra point because of a bad pass from center, and the game's end found the Vikings receiving their first and only taste of defeat. . . . VIKES TAKE TO THE AIR—edales of Hartford City, defeating them 19 to 7. Carroll passed to Don Hum in the end zone and 30 yards to "Stringy," who took it on the 25 and ran the rest of the way in the first and second frames respectively. The Vikings put the damper on in the final stanza when Bob Paulen went over from inside the one. . . . "BY PLAY" IS THE BY WORD WITH WARSAW, but the Tigers lost anyway, 20 to 12, in a rugged contest at Warsaw. Beal terminated the Vikes' first touchdown drive in the second quarter, and Stringfellow scored the insurance and final touchdown of the night. A "fiery-mad" band of Vikings proved to themselves that they could come from behind as Lind sped 18 yards around end for the decisive score. Carroll kicked two out of three extra points. . . . NORSEMEN PIN BACK TIGERS' EARS to the tune of 20 to 18. After trailing two touchdowns at half time, Coach Bill Williams fired up his Viking crew into playing an entirely different ball game against Ft. Wayne Central in the second half. Lind in the third period and Stringfellow early in the final quarter tallied from about the 1-yard line, and Carroll converted both times which eventually proved to be the winning margin. Huntington, once again behind, was to be undaunted as Carroll threw a 44-yard pass to Hum who "steam rolled" his way to the 6. Beal then went over for the TD from the two. . . . GREASED ZEBRAS OF ROCHESTER SLIDE BY into a tie, 7-7, with the Vikings. Huntington tied the game up when Lind went 10 yards around end, and Carroll split the uprights for the all-important seventh point in that third quarter. On one of the plays late in the game, Huntington was denied a touchdown according to the judgment that was rendered. . . . VIKINGS SAIL THROUGH ROCKIE WATERS but come through to upend Plymmouth by a score of 19 to 13. Carroll spotted Hum two 10-yard touchdown passes for the first two Vike scores. Bill William's Vikings with a "never say die" spirit again came back from behind in the final stanza when Stringfellow, taking a lateral pass and finding no receivers down field, whizzed 25 yards along the sideline to put the game on ice. . . . TIGERS' TAIL TWISTED TO A GROWL OF 41 to 7. Huntington drove 60 yards from the opening kickoff for the touchdown with Carroll going on a quarterback sneak. The Vikings scored in the second and fourth stanzas with Lind and Juergens going over on short plunges, and Kaufman running 6 yards then Winkleman taking a 11-yard pass for the Huntington scores. Stringfellow got the only touchdown in the third period. Carrol kicked five placement for a perfect night to end an almost perfect season.

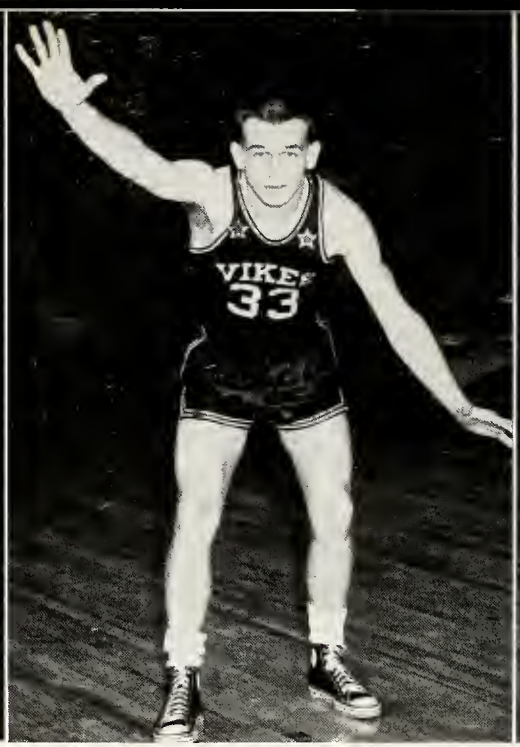
Coach

Coach Lou Watson in his sophomore year at Huntington came up with a predominately successful basketball team winning 18 and losing 7, the best record a Huntington five has compiled in five years. In two short years he has made quite an impression on all the people that know him.

Basketball

Viking fans were treated to an interesting season of basketball playing that sometimes seemed to work like clock work and then at other times for some unexplainable reason brought no dividends in the basket getting department. The team as a whole in their games displayed a fast-moving heads-up ball as well as an individual brilliance which paid off in a very good season. The team's only weakness was in games involving conference teams, particularly away from home, but the Vikes showed they were very strong in home games by their tremendous wins against top opposition. All in all it added up to a memorable basketball season.

*Roger Handwork, center, has played on the starting five all four years of his high school career, a distinction held by few. His teammates honored him by electing him honorary captain. He also made the C.I.C. third team.



*Bud Stringfellow, completing his second year of varsity competition as guard, hit his stride in the sectional tourney where his efforts were invaluable.

Gene Kaufman, guard, with a soft looping one handed shot, is another player who will be missed next year. This is the second major letter that he has earned in the round ball sport.

Gene Carroll, a versatile guard and forward, also received the most valuable player award and in three seasons as a member of the Red and Black was noted for his uncanny defensive maneuvers and long high arching set shot.

John Lind broke into the first twelve this season although not seeing a lot of action. He will be around to lend his speed to the Vikes offensive machine next season.

*Don Hum, forward, hit his sophomore basketball form and then some. Hum led the Vikings in individual scoring, was voted most valuable player by his teammates, and was elected to the 2nd all-conference team.

Ray Hemphill, who will be around next year at forward or center, earned his way into the Huntington games by his rebounding power, an all-important phase of any ball game.

Mike Arlington saw action in about half of the Viking games. During that time he showed that he can be quite a ball handler which is good news for next year.

Blaine Robrock who played in quite a number of games at center and occasionally at forward wound up his hardwood career by earning three major letters for the last three campaigns in that sport.

Dave Winkelman, senior, after having a trying time during most of the season, regained last year's form at forward just in time for the tourney and continued to perform well throughout the sectional.

Bob Paulen played both forward and guard and probably will figure heavily in the Norsemen's plans for next season.

The Vikings opened the season defeating their first three opponents—Columbia City, Rochester, and Warsaw—by scores of 73-63, 65-57, and 63-53. Rog Handwork was high against the Eagles with 22, and Don Hum led the Vikes in the Rochester game scoring 24 points getting 15 in the final quarter. . . . Huntington's next game was with Peru, and the Vikes lost 51 to 46. The only loss the Vikings suffered on their own court. . . . The Norsemen lost again as they forgot their shooting arsenal while the Alexandria Tigers clawed out the bottom of the nets winning 74 to 60. . . . The Vikings got back in the winning column against Wabash by a score of 62 to 52. . . . The story of the Huntington-Hartford City contest is told in the final score with the Airedales winning 69 to 48. . . . The final game preceding the holidays found the Vikings easily manhandling Bluffton, 66 to 51. . . . Huntington won their own invitational holiday tourney for the first time since 1949 by defeating Auburn, 48 to 32, and getting revenge against Hartford City in the championship game, 68 to 65. Gene Kaufman led the way in the latter game with 24 points. . . . The Vikes continued their winning ways, downing the Giants at Marion, 60 to 46. . . . Cold shooting accompanied the Vikings in their game against Muncie Burris as Rex Rudicel's Owls made the Norsemen their prey by a score of 55 to 41. . . . After leading the C. I. C. Champs, Elwood, for three periods, the Vikes became powerless in the point producing department and the Panthers pushed by into a 52-45 victory. . . . The Yellow Jackets' sting was little or nothing as Huntington soundly whipped Decatur, 65 to 43. . . . The Vikings then defeated Fort Wayne Central, the only team they didn't meet in the holiday tourney, 50 to 43. Bud Stringfellow set the spark that got things going, and Gene Carroll took care of things scoring-wise getting 15 points in the well played game. . . . In the following game against Tipton the Vikes, after trailing the Blue Devils at the half way mark, shot into the lead and went on to a 55-49 win after Coach Lou Watson had fired up his charges in the dressing room at half time. . . .

The Vikings made it four in a row upending state ranked Ft. Wayne South Side, 53 to 46, in one of the greatest victories of the season. . . . Huntington met another highly rated team, Logansport, in their second game in two nights coming out on the short end of the score, 76 to 59. Hum was leading scorer on either team with 24 points. . . . All the Viking players saw action in somewhat a dull game in which the Pilgrims never got their heads above water, losing to Huntington, 65 to 43. . . . The Vikes paced by Dave Winkleman, who came into the game and pumped in 17, dumped Auburn with somewhat more trouble for the second time this season 56 to 46. . . . The Vikings opened their sectional tourney competition against Andrews beating them after a first half struggle 64 to 50. . . the next encounter also was a real battle with the Watsonmen pulling away from Clear Creek in the second half going on to win 58 to 42. . . . Lancaster became the next victim; the score was 55-45. . . . The Vikings thoroughly outclassed Htgn. Township, 68-46, in the championship tilt being led by Don Hum who scored the sectional tourney high of 31 points, and the Huntington Vikings cut down the Community Gymnasium nets for the third year in a row and got the 24th sectional victory in the school's history. . . . The 1953-54 Huntington High basketball fortunes surprisingly came to an abrupt end at the Marion Regional at the hands of a team that outfought and outrebounded the bigger Viking team that earlier in the season had beaten Bluffton 15 points but now lost 38 to 27. Huntington's biggest deterring factor was that they only hit 15% of their field goals. It happens to the best of teams, coached by the best, and supported to the hilt by its rooters.

Managers

Student managers for the season were Richard Ferguson, Ted Voght, Max Fordyce, and Joe Zimmerlee. Their job was to keep track of everything from towels to basketballs. Prospective managers for next year should apply any time. All four of the boys graduate with the class of 1954.

Scyldings

The scyldings guided by assistant coaches Oscar Naab and Dale Ware fared better than average his season, winning twelve and losing eight. It will take more than the normal amount of effort by all the players concerned to achieve any degree of success in the 1954-55 basketball campaign, however, as there will be some big shoes to fill, the varsity being greatly depleted by graduation.

Frosh

The frosh squad came out on the long end of their eighteen game schedule eight times and the short end ten times. The frosh demonstrated a potention ability that speaks wll for the future of Huntington High School basketball.

Viking Cheerleaders

Cheering our Vikes on, win or lose, the yell leaders were kept very busy. This year they were Dave Repp, Linda Miller, Shirley Gressley, and Brooks Heck. They were certainly appreciated for helping to boost the morale of our team and make it fight much harder against all odds.

"H" Club

The "H" Club is composed of boys that have won at least one major letter in one of the three major sports at Huntington High as the major H exemplifies one of the best in the sport in which they participated. This year's officers consisted of Bud Stringfellow, President; Gene Carroll, Vice President; and Gene Kaufman, Secretary-Treasurer.

Track

The possibilities of a good track season this year are unlimited, and in the words of Coach Bill Williams, "Huntington is expecting a fairly decent track team." Huntington will have one of the all-time, all-around athletes to come out of H. H. S., Bud Stringfellow, in the 100 and 220 dashes. Jerry Juergens will hold down the 440 while Dick Frederick will run the mile along with Dick Butt, who may also compete in the half mile with Jerry Dolby. Tom Lancaster and Bob Paulen will be leading the red and black into high stepping hurdle events. Stan Mooberry will take part in the broad and high jump. Leading the Viking chances in the pole vault will be Larry and Gene Hensel. The responsibility of victory in the shot put will rest on the shoulders of Blaine Robrock and Mike Arlington. Huntington may have to pool their resources in just one good 880 or mile relay team with the nucleus being composed of Juergens, Stringfellow, Paulen, Lancaster, and Dolby. Oscar Naab will assist in coaching.

Seniors

Ending their happy high school days and the last ones together as a class, the seniors elected Bud Stringfellow as their president and Gene Carroll as vice president while they re-elected Eleanor Carlson as treasurer and Kay Guhl as secretary. Mrs. Hillegas and Mr. Burke were the sponsors.

This class may leave and sometime be forgotten but their class gifts to the school will long be remembered and appreciated by many future classes. They left a much appreciated console for W.V.S.H. and photomurals for the cafeteria. Last year they installed a hot water heater, new wiring, and a popcorn warmer in the concession stand at the athletic field, and also fixed the drain facilities in the stand.

The intricate apparatus to the right is the $2,000 custom built console for the new radio station which was a part of the class gift of the class of 1954. The cafeteria murals were not installed in time to appear in the yearbook.

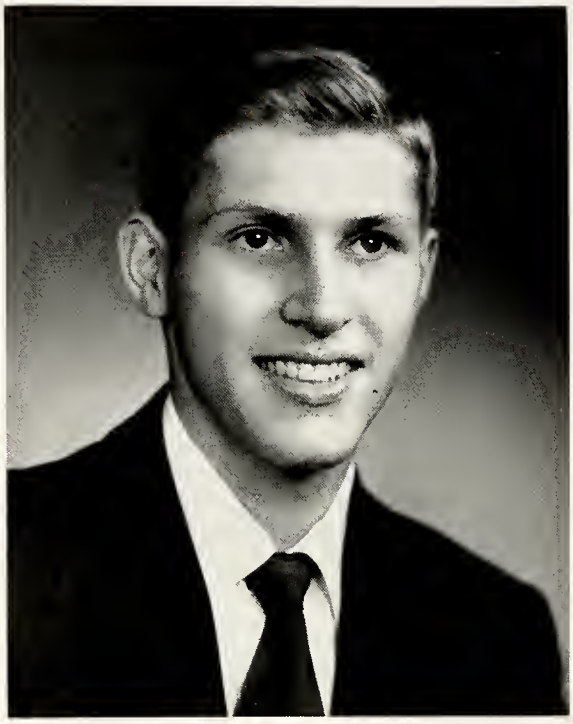
"Cheaper By The Dozen"



Senior Play

Ticket sales for the Senior Play have in the past been made through girls striving for the title of Senior Queen. This year, both a king and queen were crowned on opening night. Dorothy Jean Draper and Gene Carroll ruled during the run of the play. Nine seniors had entered the competition. They were: Janice Lehman, Joan Fontaine, Dorothy Jean Draper, Dorothy Gephart, Gene Carrol, Larry Reeves, George Juergens, Rich Ferguson, and Huston Smith. Georgianna Parmerlee acted as Mistress of Ceremonies at all three performances.

The success of the play is determined by the number of tickets sold. With the added contestants, the ticket sales were very promising. Selling tickets is no easy task, even if the event is our Senior Play. All too often the people responsible for the response are ignored. The seven who just barely missed being recognized as monarchs put forth as much effort as the winners. Being honored as selling the most tickets is a wonderful feeling, but having an important part in the success of the play is also satisfying.

Producing a play at Huntington High School is no menial task. Rehearsals, costumes, and tempraments are often severe problems. It is a custom however, for our dramatic production to come through unscathed. "Cheaper By The Dozen" certainly upheld our tradition. Mrs. Patterson, Mr. Burke, and Mrs. Hillegas should receive much credit for its success. How can any project succeed without direction and hearty shoves from behind.

Opening night as usual left everyone with sweaty hands and blank minds, but the expectant faces of the audience weren't to be disappointed. As soon as the play was under way the cast settled into their parts as though they had been acting since they were born. "Cheaper By The Dozen" was a series of laughs punctuated with moments of seriousness and strong emotion as would be found in the life of any large family.

Juniors

The Juniors were the working class again this year. They cooperated with their sponsors and tried very hard to make some money keeping in mind the Jr.-Sr. Reception and looking forward to it. The Seniors certainly appreciate their work for the wonderful reception which began as soon as their selling was over.

The happy, hardworking juniors slaved away during football and basketball seasons so that they might climax their third year at Huntington High with a beautiful reception.

Sophomores

Beginning their second year at Huntington High, the sophomores re-elected Jerry Dolby for President, Saralee Allen for Vice-President, Nancy Weesner for Secretary, and elected Joan Burkhart for their Treasurer. This year Miss Neal was their sponsor. The highlight of the year, as it is for sophomores every year, was receiving their class rings. No one could have been prouder than they for their rings were really pretty. As is customary, the sophomore class as well as the freshman class is not too active. They conserve their energy for their junior year when it will all be badly needed.

Freshmen

After surviving all the pranks played on them by the upperclassmen, the freshmen laughed them off and proceeded to elect their officers who were President, Dick Chalfant; Vice-President, Ronnie Foor; Secretary, Charles Johnson; and Treasurer, Dick Mitchell, Coach Lou Watson was their sponsor. At the end of the year the entire class met for their first social activity as a class and held their annual class party. Let's hope they have many more enjoyable activities as they take their brief trip through H.H.S.

Prophecy

Twenty-five years have passed and while reminiscing through some old yearbooks our thoughts return to Huntington High as it was in 1954. Of course we can't even mention that year without first thinking of all those wonderful seniors. Our curiosity gets the best of us and we arrange for a tour through the now thriving metropolis of Huntington, Indiana.

As our plane nears its destination, we are full of anticipation and expectation. More memories return—the basketball team, the senior play, . . . but here we are already.

As we step down the ramp of our plane we are met at the ultramodern airport by a reception committee of our old friends led by none other than the mayor, his honor, Pete Sowerwine. Accompanying him is Huntington's leading politician, Mr. Stephen Moon. As we walk into the elaborate terminal, Phil McMahan, the Herald Press Photographer, stops us. After posing for several shots, we decide to eat at the airport restaurant. Lynette Erickson, the head waitress, directs us to our table.

While waiting for our order, we scan through the latest edition of the Herald Press, edited by Lowell Swaidner. In the gossip column, which is written by Sharon Young and Jo Ellen Carroll, we read about many of our old friends in foreign lands. . . . Professor Jerry Ball is a noted violin teacher in Germany. Anne Weesner has become recognized as a world traveler. Huston Smith is in England preparing to swim the English channel, and the "foreign legion" has summoned Jerry Kline, Paul Huffman, and Gene Poehler.

After finishing our meal, we take a taxi, driven by Jim Yahne, to the Huntington Coliseum, where we plan to see the Sectional Wrestling Matches.

While finding our seats, the coaches, Rog Handwork, Don Hum, Gene Carroll and Neil Derr, give their boys a "pep talk." The referees, Max Fordyce and Joe Zimmerlee, finally call the boys into the ring. Suddenly one of the Huntington wrestlers is doubled in pain; Kay Farrar, Sarah Ervin, and Lois Funderburg rush forward with their first-aid kits. The half-time bell rings, and the wrestlers are momentarily forgotten.

David Denton is seen bringing in cases of coke while Dale Haney keeps the popcorn in the popcorn popper, popping. Can that gray-haired old woman over there be Jennie B. Wilson? Why no, that's Eleanor, "Scrooge", Carlson who is the junior co-sponsor with Kay Guhl. As we pass the cheering block we hear Carol Wood reprimanding them for leaving the bleachers.

We are back in our seats once again impatiently waiting for Ron Frybarger and Ron Weist to finish dusting the ring. As we glance around us at this sea of spectators, we recognize Dave Winkleman, that famous author of wrestling techniques. Across the ring sits Rev. Joe Thomas.

The match is in full swing again and the referees are really calling them close. Finally, Rog Rickert, completely exasperated, rushes into the ring to examine their eyes. He seems to be following in his father's footsteps.

When leaving the Coliseum, we notice Tom Glenn and Dave Kilty broadcasting over W.K.J.G. television. The radio experience which they received in H. H. S. certainly has been profitable to them.

The second part of our tour takes us down the main thoroughfare. As we cross the intersection we are greeted by the loud blare of a horn. It looks like Janet Miller driving. Let's stop and talk to her. . . . Why Janet! Does he actually let you have the convertible any time you want it? . . . Perhaps you can tell us about some of the other members of the class of '54. You say Julie Norfleet is the head scientist at the laboratory? . . . There are Nancy Repp and Anne Earhart coming across the street. Nancy must be home for the holidays. We were told she was modeling in New York and that Anne was following in her sister's footsteps. . . . Well, Janet, we haven't much time, so we must be going.

Many new establishments have sprung up on Jefferson Street and one of the first to catch our eye is the Professional Dance School run by Carolyn Lesh and Janelle Weist. After having talked to them for a short time, we are directed to the Friendly Decorators where we find Patt Broom, Carolyn Burnworth, and Marilyn Miller arguing with George and Jerry Juergens over an inferior grade of paint which they had purchased from the Juergen's paint store. We decide not to bother these people and proceed on down the street.

Our attention is drawn to an unusual sign on a nearby window; "Digger" Coles, The Friendly Undertaker. Our curiosity is so aroused that we enter and find more old friends; not only Larry Cole, but also his assistant, Larry Hensel. While visiting with them, Dr. Dick Butt, having seen us through the window, drops in to pay his respects. We bid these people good-by and once again enter the thoroughfare, where we are blinded by a flashing neon sign. This sign seems to be the calling card for an exclusive night club known as "Timmies"; and standing in front of this establishment is the proprietor himself, Mr. Tom Lancaster. We enter this club and check our coats with Janis Clipp. After we are comfortably seated, Miss Anne Hurd comes by and snaps our picture, "Compliments of Timmies." The lights are dimmed and the stage show begins. We are pleasantly surprised to see George Riseborough and his orchestra lead out with the first number. There are several familiar faces among the players—Brooks Heck is at the piano; Ted Voght, the sax; and Rich Ferguson, the drums. One of the many attractions is Carole Steele, a star of grand opera. Of course the show wouldn't be complete without a dance chorus, so here to fill that requirement we have Larry Brooks, Dave Buzzard, Larry Gilmer, and Bob Collins. They receive a vigorous round of applause which is led by Jane Flora. The beautiful costumes worn by these artists are designed by Vera Geist, Carolyn Kimmel, and Phyllis Nie. A hush falls over the audience as the spotlight is centered on the main attraction for this week, Miss Carolyn Collins. It is with regret (and empty billfolds, after we pay Shirley Souders) that we leave this home of glittering personalities.

Continuing our journey we see Carol Trook who is now a cashier at Heyde's. We ask her if she knows anyone who could give us the lowdown, real quick, on some of the rest of the class. She directs us to Gene Kaufman, who is teaching golf at the country club, and says he ought to be able to furnish some information on the female species. . . . He does! . . . He tells us that JoEllen Gerdes is now the manager of Bazley's Meat Market; Joan Gerrard is the city librarian; Georgianna Parmerlee is a professor at Manchester College; Joan Fountain has established her office as a psychiatrist—boy, is she busy—and he adds, . . . "of course there are always those who end up housewives; Betty Yahne Stahl, Florene Biehl Pugh, Mary Ann Sands Bowman, and and Sandy Day." We thank Gene for his information and move on down the street.

As we walk past the office of the Justice of the Peace we see Blaine Robrock dictating to his secretary, Joyce Auer. Dorothy Jean Draper is washing the windows of her drug store; and assisting her is the fountain lady, Nancy Kramer. They tell us about a few more of our old friends . . . John Beal is the president of the First National Bank and Nedra Byrd is his secretary. Carol Ade drives by in her little car. It seems she is the Crosley car dealer in Huntington. Dorothy Gephart, Janis Lehman, and Janet Parker come out of the drug store and join our group. Most of their time is spent in operating Beatty's Rollerena.

They walk on down the street with us and point out some other places of interest. We see Shirley Gressley's Hair Salon; the Hotel La Hoffman, owned by Phyllis; Schnitz's Nursery School, which was a great necessity established by Barbara; Donna Minniear's Used Car Lot; Moore's, operated by Glenn Wendel; and Sharon Dinius' Law Firm.

A fire engine comes zooming by with Dale Ehlers at the wheel. Someone shouts that they are on their way to save the barns on Jeannine Kelsey's race horse farm. Many people rush to see it go by. Among them are Joan Barnt and Betty Burton, the census takers, also Larry Tribolet, who we understand is playing in a swing band at Chicago, and Don Holmes, the ticket taker at the theater.

When this bit of excitement dies down we recognize Larry Reeves, standing across the street. It seems he is selling musical instruments from door to door. We chat with him for a while and he tells us that Shirley Bartrom and Peggy Minniear have moved from Huntington. Also, he says that Ruth Burman is married and has a large family. Pat Stell, the gym teacher at H. H. S., and DeEtta Reed, a house mother at Anderson College, join our conversation. They, too, are able to give us information about some of the others. Janice Bellam is a secretary for a large insurance firm, Barbara Johnson is manager of the school cafeteria, and Kay Bechstein is president of the Sauerkraut Association.

We leave these people, and are immediately encountered by some more friends, Jeanene Morris, Janet Mygrant, and Marjorie Poehler. Jeanene has just come back from missionary work in Africa and they are on their way to a club meeting where she is to speak.

Jim Rouch, a predominant personality in Y. M. C. A. work, and Gloria McKee come by and direct us to a swanky drive-in owned by Vontella Lange and Donna McBride. This drive-inn, which is located where the A. & W. root beer stand used to be, was planned by Janet Mygrant. It gained such a booming business that it was necessary to hire Mary Passwater and Pat Pressler as assistant managers.

Having satisfied our appetites and used up most of our time, we ask a nearby policeman to direct us back to the airport. This policeman turns out to be Jerry Baker.

We finally reach the airport and walk over to the fuel station where our plane is being prepared for its long journey home. Upon entering the station we see Bud Stringfellow, tearing down his Model A Plane with the assistance of the gas attendant, Bob Eagleson.

Our pilot, Lowell Thorn, motions for us to board plane. After being strapped in our seats by the hostess, Sally Hosler, we are given a book of short stories written by Lowell Richardson. Before we settle down our plane circles for one last look at Huntington. We laugh to ourselves when we notice George Swing soundly sleeping on a park bench. The last glimpse we have of this town and its memories reveals a bronze statue, erected in honor of Mrs. Hillegas and Mr. Burke, the two people who played such an important part in making this class a great success.

Diary

SEPTEMBER:

Tues. 8 Mary had a little lamb,
Its fleece was white as foam;
She took it to school the very first day.
Said the lamb, "I should have stayed home."

Wed. 9 Last night's football game was a good opener—Vikes 14, Columbia City 6. A select group of Senior boys received ornery-ary (honorary) memberships into the G. A. A. and Sunshine Society.

Thurs. 10 Now is the time for all good Seniors to initiate Freshmen.

Fri. 11 Our Vikes showed up the Marion Giants 13 to 6. Nice going!

Mon. 14 Great day for the Seniors! They elected Bud Stringfellow president, Gene Carroll vice-president, Kay Guhl secretary, and—yes, "Scrooge" Carlson is treasurer again.

Tues. 15 Of all the pairs of Senior cords
So neatly made by tailors,
Only one is painted up,
And those are Thomas Kaylor's.

Wed. 16 Judy "One-a-Day" Woods is sporting an entirely original hair color—maroon!

Thurs. 17 Filled out permanent enrollment cards—six of 'em.

Fri. 18 The time is 8:05 p.m. September 18, 1953. You are a football fan assigned to watch the game between the Vikings and the Wabash Apaches. It is half-time. The Huntington High School band marches on to the field, and you hear: dum, dum-dum-dum—DRAGNET! Score was Wabash 21, Vikes 20.

Mon. 21 Mr. Buzzard was in sad condition today. He almost sneezed axioms and postulates from his head!

Tues. 22 Buzzard's cold worse—how is he ever going to make it to Detroit tomorrow?

Thurs. 24 It looks as if little Jerry Ball hasn't graduated to knee pants yet. Today he modeled his "the dirtier the better" German shorts in auditorium for us.

Fri. 25 The bodies were carried off the field after every play, but the Vikes carried off the honors—Huntington 20, Warsaw 12.

Mon. 28 Today was Diffie's 30th birthday all day long, and only his fourth period physics class sang "Happy Birthday" for him.

Tues. 29 What a sweltering hot day! The pitcher of ice water that Dick Butt and George Juergens brought up to the Modulus room from the home ec room sure tasted cool, man—real cool.

Wed. 30 Q. Why did Bud Stringfellow come to school this noon with an old beat-up work glove on his right hand?
A. So he wouldn't contaminate his hand when he hit Timmy Lancaster.

OCTOBER:

Miss Ellis, why don't you let your classes listen to the World Series? That is history in the making!

Fri. 2 Hartford City 7, Vikes 19.

Mon. 5 During the fire drill this morning, Verna Oyer's art class nearly got away from her up Guilford Street. Yanks won the series.

Tues. 6 Six hayride sheets on the bulletin board. Who will I ask? Will someone ask me? Gee, I hope so! Hmm—The odds are 6 to 1.

Thurs. 8 Fire prevention program. Have a nice nap, Mr. Hummer?

Fri. 9 Diff made a good chaperon for the Booster Club Hayride. He can't see a thing after dark.

Mon. 12 Dick Butt has an original way to get out of study hall. He just picks up the wastebasket and walks out the door with it. Mr. Naab thinks Miss Reynolds asked him to do it, and Miss Reynolds thinks Mr. Naab asked him to do it.

Tues. 13 Vikes 20, Ft. Wayne Central 18.

Wed. 14 No school today. B.I.E. Day.

Thurs. 15 Elsa Moegle and her harp gave us a vivid example of what the music will be like when we reach heaven.

Fri. 16 What a blow! Our 7 to 7 tie with Rochester moved us from 4th place to 5th in the Central Indiana Conference.

Mon. 19 Alas, 2-1's and 1-2's have to wear out their craniums looking for their I.Q.'s. Why? The records were lost.

Tues. 20 The lady was calling out the names of the left-handed seniors who were taking the aptitude test in 202. "And there's a girl whose last name is Ball, but I can't make out her first name." "Her first name is Jerry," growled Jerry.

Wed. 21 We beat Plymouth 19 to 13.

Mon. 26. Why can't you distract some seniors from the little yellow paper back books they're reading? Oh, I catch on! It seems they are searching for the senior play that will challenge their thespian abilities.

Wed. 28 The trig class went out with rod and transit and surveyed today. Timmy, hold that stick still. George, you run over to Kilty's for refreshments for everybody.

Thurs. 29 Miss Val Lauder spoke to us this morning about her newspaper experiences. All the male members of the Sahata staff were fighting to interview her backstage after her talk, but Huston Smith won out.

Fri. 30 Wotta way to end the season. Vikes 41, Peru Tigers 7. Jerry Juergens and Dave Winkelman finally made touchdowns. The best season record for 13 years.

Sat. 31 A perfect night for the M. M. S. Halloween Dance.

NOVEMBER:

Mon. 2 How was it that Miss Wilson's 5th period senior English class was so late in getting back from the fire drill?

Tues. 3 Marcia Walker gazed at her sack lunch with amazement today. There was a round hole in the paper sack, wax-paper, slice of bread, the butter, the lettuce, the mayonnaise, and the pickle, but all of the cheese was gone. . . . All clues at the scene of the crime point to that notorious conman who inhabited H. H. S. lockers lately . . . Mickey Mouse.

Wed. 4 The Sunshine Society made a grand profit of $3.50 on their Halloween Dance.

Thurs. 5 Student Day at Manchester College.

Fri. 6 It sure feels queer with no game tonight.

Mon. 9 "Gad Effie! Animal, vegetable, or mineral?" You guessed it . . . our passport pictures for the good ship MODULUS arrived today.

Tues. 10 Einstein's theory of relativity (for the first day of the hunting season) as the number of names on the absentee list increases, the rabbit population proportionately decreases.

Wed. 11 You should see the gizmo that Blaine Robrock build and demonstrated for physics class. Wow! Bolts of lightning flying all over the place.

Thurs. 12 The janitors opened up early this morning to find a big line in front of Mr. Michael's office, waiting loyally for their tickets to exhibitions of Hoosier Madness.

Fri. 13 Break any mirrors today?

Mon. 16 At the Masque and Gavel meeting tonight, Police Detective Sharon Young and Captain Barb Petrucelle (wearing Uncle Joe's uniform) brought in Grandma Sallie Crews and L. B. R. H. Hoyt Brown for operating a goodies ring. Just one question, Hoyt—where did you get that low-cut dress?

Wed. 18 Another boring day, full of boring classes conducted by boring teachers.

Thurs. 19 The Modulus staff (especially Diff), $1.00 in the red, wonder if Carolyn Collins is going to be a deadbeat the rest of her life.

Fri. 20 The first basketball game of the season ended 73 to 63, Vikings over Columbia City.

Mon. 23 Hallelujah! Hallellujah! Hallelujah! Don't be alarmed—that's just the choir practicing in the auditorium sixth period.

Tues. 24 What happened to the John Street steps?

Wed. 25 First snow of the year today. Have an enjoyable Thanksgiving vacation, everyone!

Fri. 27 Don Hum went mad in the second half with Rochester! The boy racked up 23 of our 65 points Rochester got 57.

Sat. 28 That shore was a purty snow over the holidays, but it didn't stop us from beating Warsaw 63 to 53.

Mon. 30 Well! Why were all the Senior boys so interested in Ann Marie Fahl down on the first floor before 4th period? Oh, shucks —she had a spare.

DECEMBER:

Tues. 1 The Valentine's Pet Parade showed us that it's a compliment to be called a birdbrain.

Wed. 2 Today a nurse from Chicago showed a very interesting film strip of the functions of her hospital. She and other angels of mercy deserve a lot of credit.

Thurs. 3 Anybody who is seen running around the Modulus room sixth period with a can of blue copper sulfate in his hand is probably only Lowell "Swaidie" Swaidner trying to grow crystals.

Fri. 4 To the woods! Or, better, to the Purdue speech conference.

Mon. 7 The Salvation Army gave a benefit concert this evening.

Tues. 8 Sad head! Why do they take preliminary enrollment now for next semester when we don't know if we can scrape through this semester?

Wed. 9 Nedra Byrd has a smug smile on her mug . . . she has all her Christmas shopping done.

Fri. 11 We lost at Alexandria to the tune of 74-60.

Mon. 14 This is a secret society's secret, but Anne Hurd is suspected of having fleas in her golden curls.

Wed. 16 Miss Luther's G.A.A. girls are traveling to see the Ice-Capades in Fort Wayne this evening. How many points is that worth?

Thurs. 17 The juniors look rather dazed and keep muttering about dangling particles and split infinitives. That English test certainly does strange things to some people.

Fri. 18 We were trampled by Hartford City 69-48 but we came home in high spirits for visions of sugar plums danced in our heads

JANUARY:

Mon. 4 School resumes. What a heck of a way to begin the New Year. One spark of brightness—dance chorus tryouts for the Revue tonight.

Tues. 5 Vikes pulled away from the Marion Giants in the second half to win 60 to 46.

Wed. 6 Let's get on the stick, all you Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs, to sell candy during National Y. M. C. A. week.

Thurs. 7 There's some sentiment among the students to have a class or two in sleeping next semester. I wonder who would be the best teacher for a subject like this?

Fri. 8 Mr. Johnson delivered his Point-Three address in the auditorium this morning.

Sat. 9 Those Muncie Owls flew above us this time. How sad—55 to 41.

Mon. 11 Get a shine at the shoe shine stand in the hall! For one thin dime you can get your shoes shined and help a European teen-ager come to Huntington next year. Joan Neal pops a mighty mean rag!

Wed. 13 The Reverend E. R. Fisher presented a truly inspiring talk in the religious program this morning on the subject of the Good Samaritan. I felt good all day!

Thurs. 14 Why don't you drop into Miss Zahn's room and look at the baby pictures of her sociology class? Good for a million laffs!

Fri. 15 Elwood 52, Vikes 45. Well, maybe the next one. . . .

Mon. 18 Steel yourself for the tests this week.

Tues. 19 Three cheers for us. Vikes 65, Decatur 43.

Wed. 20 Today is the day! The senior football players got their jackets.

Thurs. 21 Hallelujah! End of semester!

Fri. 22 Gloom. Got report cards. Joy! Beat Fort Wayne Central, 50 to 47.

Mon. 25 The high price of education on book rental day—is it worth it? I wonder.

Tues. 26 Temporary enrollment and fire drill, all within fifteen minutes.

Wed. 27 A dirty trick. Yes, a dirty trick. The history class of Mrs. Scott, who is substituting for Miss Ellis, set off an alarm clock and gaily tripped out of the room on the fake fire drill.

Thurs. 28 Revue specialty tryouts.

Fri. 29 Thirty seniors took the state scholarship exams this morning. Oh, well—I didn't want a scholarship anyway. The Vikes, bless their hearts, defeated Tipton 55 to 49.

FEBRUARY:

Mon. 1 Happy first of February, everybody!

Tues. 2 Do you know what day this is? Who is the furry, buck-toothed little animal that sticks his head out of a hole in the ground to see if he can see his shadow? (No, it's not a teacher!)

Wed. 3 All of us with writer's cramp are now enrolled permanently six times.

Thurs. 4 A trace of snow was predicted for today. A trace, said the weather bureau, is less than an inch. I think we had three or four traces.

Fri. 5 Oh, rejoice! Oh, you wonderful Vikings! Did you you ever clobber the South Side Archers! 53 to 46! Wonderful! !

Sat. 6 We all have our ups and downs. Logansport 76, Vikes 59.

Tues. 9 Sally Weyler and Kent Owen, with two girls from Peru, discussed "Are Teenagers Ready for Marriage?" for Jr. Town Meeting. Some very—ah, shall we say, blunt?—statements were made.

Wed. 10 Reverend Morris of the Church of the Nazarene was on our religious program this morning.

Fri. 12 Mrs. Binade, a missionary to Pakistan, was very interesting in her talk to us. Later in the day the Vikes defeated Plymouth 65 to 43. It must have been because of the rowdy gang of boys that interrupted the pep session.

Sat. 13 How do the girls do it? Every year the Sweetheart Dance is more beautiful than the year before.

Mon. 15 First tryouts for the Senior Play, and dress rehearsal for the Revue.

Tues. 16 We were greatly honored to have Dr. Kurt von Schuschnigg, former chancellor of Austria, address the student body.

Wed. 17 Janet Hoover was announced as Modulus Queen, with a record number of tickets sold in the history of the Revue.

Thurs. 18 A beautiful spring day.

Fri. 19 The last game of the season, and we won it! Vikes 56, Auburn 46.

Sat. 20 A splendid final performance of the Revue. I especially liked the part in the dance chorus where Carol Kennedy fell down. Oh, but we'll always remember the Revue of '54.

Mon. 22 Well, well, well, what will they think of next? A king for the Senior play!

Tues 23 Albert Windle, whether he can see or not, is certainly a man who is master of his environment. Besides, he was funny as all get-out.

Wed. 24 Sectional tourney begins tonight.

Thurs. 25 That vacation tomorrow will be welcome.

MARCH:

Mon. 1 Our Vikes won the tourney, defeating Andrews, Clear Creek, Lancaster, and Huntington Township. On to Marion!

Wed. 3 Dr. Paul Robinson of Chicago presented an excellent religious program. It was probably the first religious speaker whom we applauded.

Thurs. 4 Another cat day—collars up!

Fri. 5 Brooks Heck's senior cords and the locker handles didn't seem to mix very well. R-r-r-i-i-p-p.

Mon. 8 The Vikes lost out in the regionals over the week-end.

Tues. 9 The new clocks are finally working, and working fairly well, I might add.

Wed. 10 Now in this last, darkest hour of sixth period we utter silent prayers in anticipation of report card time at 4:00.

Thurs. 11 Joan Fountain wants her name in the diary, so yours truly will oblige.

Fri. 12 The Sunshine Gales are working on Easter bonnets already for their little egg-heads.

Mon. 15 Taxes paid?

Tues. 16 Jo Gerdes made a cunning angel at Job's Daughters tonight.

Wed. 17 The inevitable has happened, and on St. Patrick's Day, at that. The Sophomores got their rings.

Fri. 19 Jr. Tri Hi-Y's coed swim was a lot of fun for the brave few who turned out.

Mon. 22 This isn't Huntington High School news, but it should go in the Modulus anyway—Milan won the state tournament.

Tues. 23 Sunday was the first day of spring, but you couldn't tell it from the weather today.

Wed. 24 Mr. Johnson took off for the rest of the week.

Thurs. 25 Seniors took the Otis I. Q. test this morning. Somehow, I just didn't feel very intelligent.

Fri. 26 Hurrah for Friday.

Mon. 29 Skating party, benefit International Student Fund.

Tues. 30 Junior and Senior Honor Societies were posted this morning. Congratulations, kids—it's a true honor.

APRIL:

Thurs. 1 No billfolds on a string, no "kick me" signs on my back . . . what a dull day.

Fri 2 Party at Tribolet's after the senior play.

Mon. 5 Charles E. King really made us live for an hour this morning with one of the most successful audience participation singing programs we have ever seen.

Tues. 6 Masque and Gavel members are still chuckling over Ronnie Frybarger's Masque and Gavel program last night.

Wed. 7 Today will simply have to do without me. I wasn't here.

Thurs. 8 What is that rowdy gang in the boy's office laughing so loud at?

Fri. 9 Lost a track meet to Warsaw. Jerry Juergens ran Max Truex a close second in the relays.

Mon. 12 Masque and Gavel elections were tonight. All elected were political veterans.

Tues. 13 Whoopee! After 149 days of constant struggling, Susanne Schilling finally managed to get the best 6 weeks test grade in geometry.

Wed. 14 Wow! A water show complete with bathing beauties was held at the YMCA. Nancy Repp won the title of queen.

Thurs. 15 And so ends another strenuous six weeks.

Tues. 20 Eleanor Carlson got a Sunshine Society nurse's scholarship. Oh, nurse, take my pulse!

Wed. 21 The Spanish-American War began 56 years ago today.

Thurs. 22 The Elmhurst Band gave a good program this morning.

Fri. 23 I guess I should return my report card.

Tues. 27 The Junior Varieties looks like a pint-sized Moduus Revue.

Wed. 28 They've been using the WVSH studios in the new buiding for over a week now.

Thurs. 29 Kokomo High School choir sang this afternoon.

Fri. 30 C. I. C. track meet at Peru.

MAY:

Mon. 3 This is the beginning of the end.

Wed. 5 That was a nice religious program this morning.

Thurs. 6 The pollen count is going up, I'll bet.

Fri. 7 Sectional track meet at Kriegbaum Field.

Mon. 10 Yesterday was Mother's Day.

Wed. 12 The Modulus staff has nothing to do but sit back and wait for the printers to deliver the books.

Thurs. 13 It's marvelous how quickly the front steps are cleared off right after the first bell.

Mon. 17 There are Mr. Moreland and Miss Neal again, hanging over the stair wall on 3rd floor.

Wed. 19 But she can't flunk me! She just CAN'T!

Thurs. 20 Have any of you snoopy Seniors heard any gossip about the Reception?

Fri. 21 I never realized how much everybody has achieved until Achievement Day.

Mon. 24 Baccalaureate was presented yesterday. Does that tassel bother you, Fergy?

Thurs. 27 A reception never to be forgotten. It even inspired this beautiful poem:

Though high school days have their delights,
They can't compare with high school nights!

Fri. 28 Commencement today—Seniors get their walking papers. May they walk in the paths of success and happiness.
